Yesterday Dan offers to take Sally and Corey Porter to the ski school. Corey says they are going to the ski school.

CHAPTER III

"That night the carnival was held and Sally officially was crowned Queen. A magic wand, last of all, had been waved to have produced such a crystal fairyland. The colorful magnificence, the spectacular floats, the huge blocks of ice carved into the shape of the throne, raised at the side of the long silver staircase, stood two majestic lions, made from snow. Hidden lights, in rainbow colors, lit the crystal world into rose, red, lavender, then gold. Last of all, in the solemn procession came the Queen, the magnificence of royal robes, an ermine cloak with train that spread for yards like a peacock's tail, a glittering scepter in her hand, a glittering train crown on her dark curls.

There were sighs and whimpers and then a mighty thunder of applause and acclaim.

The carnival continued long into the night, until the last tiny spark twinkled in a cloud and put to bed, and the last song had faded on the clear, crisp air and the Queen and her ladies were waiting found that their eyes were dreamy and their dancing slippers stilled. Nevertheless, Sally, her short reign ended, slipped out of her bed before it was five o'clock the morning, resumed her ordinary clothing of mortal maid, and crept out to meet the dawn.

On, rather, to meet Dan Reynolds who was waiting, took to his word, at the foot of practice hill.

"I didn't think you'd make it," he said. He had not put any stars to bed. It was too important that he be in form for the last, the most important events of the meet.

"I always keep my word," Sally returned. She looked as fresh as she had had her regular beauty sleep, perhaps her dark eyes were a little brighter, her cheeks a bit more flushed. "I wasn't at all sure you'd keep yours," she challenged, swinging into him.

"Thinking" His mouth set in a grim line. It was a very nice mouth, even though it was so stern. He was not smooth and shining and like Corey. But there was a ruggedness, a strength about this boy that matched the mountain he set out to conquer.

He said, "I shall use the few pellets to get to the top. It will save time." The few pellets were a long trip of rope, that featured about one's waist, saved hours of strenuous climbing.

Sally shook her head stubbornly. "I've plenty of time," she said, eyes that had none of the fear except this grudgingly extracted bit, of which she would make the most, or die in the attempt.

He helped her adjust her skis and the toe-plates, tightened the bindings with one firm pull, then, he hopped on the hill, shaking the virgin snow that had fallen during the night. Dan asked at the halfway mark, she had matched his silence with hers. She was

It was glorious, the clean air washing against her face, beckoning her on and up.

How often she could share the companionship and stillness of a new day that was like a sanctuary in its stark purity.

She shook her head. They trudged on, side by side. It was glorious, the clean air washing against her face, filling her lungs, beckoning her on and on, up and up, but not so glorious as the downward, the hustled, the ground would drop away beneath her, the wind hum in your ears as like a feathered creature on the wing, you took the forest-bound run.

"Do you know anything about skiing?" Sally's instructor demanded sternly, the summit reached. "A little," she admitted, with her dimpled smile. She should be better than she had been last year, after a month's vacation in Switzerland, last spring, perfecting real Alpine technique.

"I think I can try it now," Sally said. "I don't care what you say," she replied, but her dark eyes were shining, not dangerously, but softly now. "I think you're right," she said. "I only got up the hill once, but I think I can do it now."

"I don't care what you say," she replied, but her dark eyes were shining, not dangerously, but softly now. "I think you're right," she said. "I only got up the hill once, but I think I can do it now."

Bay Opens Up-To-Late Lunch Shop Service In Basement Of New Store

Here's the Bay's Coffee Shop!

The smart looking lunch counter assembly pictured above is just a part of the interior of the new "Bay Coffee Shop." There is accommodation for 120 diners at a single sitting on the comfortable "back-springer" chairs. Tastefully lighted, smartly and modernly decorated, with shining stainless steel and gleaming tile, the Coffee Shop positively exudes efficiency, comfort and cleanliness. Every effort is being made to make it the city's most popular rendezvous.

New Coffee Shop Opens in Hudson's Bay Company Store

To Edmonton, the Hudson's Bay Company departmental store has brought the newest in modern luncheon facilities which are embodied in the new "Bay Coffee Shop" opening Thursday, 9:30 a.m.

Situated in the basement of the new section of the store the luncheon counter is the result of long hours of planning and research by A. H. Dow, head of the store's construction office, and a large staff of trained experts along designing lines.

Lunch shops the country over are envied for their sleek and the new Bay coffee shop in Vancouver which has been called the best word of perfection, has been improved upon, so that every customer gives the customer.

AIR CONDITIONING

Air conditioned throughout, direct lighting casts a flattering glow around the room which is finished in a color scheme of red, black, chrome and fawn. A comfortable lounge in red leather accommodates any customer waiting, while the smartest in exchange chairs are used at the counter. They are upholstered in a red and black figured leather, with chrome trim. Placed at just the correct height for comfort, the feet rest easily on the floor, and the counter is set at exact drinkable height.

Stream-lined steel mouldings edge the counters, which run in horse-shoe shapes throughout the room. Marmalade which is a type of linoleum but gives the effect of hardwood, makes the base of the counters, which are all several inches from the floor to allow cleaning beneath them.

Sanitation is the keynote of this new lunch shop where every appliance has been installed to insure complete cleanliness. Coffee urns are lined with green so that the beverage comes in contact with no metal at all, and to give an artistic effect the urns are set in brick-lined niches which are lighted from above.

SPECIAL LIGHTING

Above the kitchen, indirectly lighted in rows, are hidden several inches high spelling out, "The Bay Coffee Shop." On the counters, turning out the color scheme are clever menus in black and silver. Menus are worn by all help in the kitchen.

A small oven for pastries, a large stove for cooking meats, a steamer for vegetables, and an immense cauldron for soups are only a few of the fine quality facilities offered the public in preparing the food for which the Bay is famous. A refrigerator which is as large as a room-sized room keeps the food fresh and in good condition, and in turn a small motor in an adjacent room.

Workrooms beautifully appointed are situated on the way into the shop, and it is anticipated that business people will appreciate the added convenience, enabling them to wash up for dinner. A handy fountain runs cold water all day long for the convenience of the customer.

SEPARATE ROOM

A separate room where the waitresses may eat their meals away from the hurry and bustle of their work, allows the employees to get away from their place of work during their lunch hour.

Dietitian

MISS I. M. DAWE

MISS I. M. DAWE NAMED MANAGER OF COFFEE SHOP

Containing as it does all the latest aids and conveniences that science could devise for coffee shops, it is only natural that the new "Bay Coffee Shop" should be managed by a trained and experienced dietitian.

The lady selected for the position is Miss I. M. Dawe, a graduate dietitian, who studied her profession at McDonald Institute, affiliated with the University of Toronto, and who for several years past has taught the theory she learned at university with practical experience.

Miss Dawe came to Edmonton from the Hudson's Bay Company's store in Calgary, and for several months now has been preparing to take over the active management of the new shop in Edmonton.

She has specialized in the study of "What people want to eat today" and the cuisine staff of the coffee shop will serve meals that taste "more like home cooked meals than meals cooked at home." Each meal is designed to give just the right amount of vitamins, of calories, and a balanced diet and a satisfied feeling.

ing lunch hour, and thus enabling them to come back refreshed and ready to go to work.

From as little as 30 persons will be employed to serve in the shop, and seating capacity is 120. The kitchen is exposed to the view of the public if they wish to see how their food is prepared on sanitary ranges by efficient cooks.

Drawers which are metal lined side the dirty dishes away from view until the bus-boy takes them to the kitchen, and specially constructed ovens keep the rolls hot at the counter until required.

STAINLESS STEEL

The kitchen is equipped with stainless steel apparatus, and the latest ventilation with fans to keep the fumes of food to the roof. Every possibility of fire has been eliminated by fans constructed in such a way that any grease from the fryer which might catch fire is whisked away and the fumes closed to prevent the flames going into the rest of the building.

"Meet me at the Bay" has long been the byword in Edmonton shopping and social circles, but it has been modernized now to "Meet me at the Bay Coffee Shop."

CONTRACT FIRM WILL MAINTAIN QUARTERS HERE

Bennett and White Construction Company, Limited, contractors in charge of the construction of the beautiful new million-dollar Hudson's Bay Company Store, have decided that Edmonton's future premises just as much business as the past two years have brought to the building trade.

Evidence of their faith in the city is shown by the fact that they have decided to open a permanent

Pictured above are some of the members of the staff of the Hudson's Bay Company's new Coffee Shop, which opens Thursday at 9:30 a.m. The chefs are all experienced masters of their trade and the pastries, cakes and tarts that they turn out would do credit to the world's finest kitchens. Under the direction of a trained dietitian they prepare quality meals, using only the finest foodstuffs and utensils, cooking on city to help build the many new structures which Edmonton's business leaders predict will be erected within the next decade.

Man Who Fired First Shot in Riel Rebellion, Veteran Mountie, Dies

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Dec. 14.—The man who fired the first shot of the Riel Rebellion of 1885, Joseph (Gentleman Joe) McKay, 83, veteran of the Royal North West Mounted Police, died here Tuesday.

On March 29, 1885, he was with a small detachment of police and volunteers who encountered an army band of Metis near Duck Lake, 18 miles south of Prince Albert. Less than an hour later, the police and volunteers had retired to avenge a massacre. Nine soldiers and a policeman had been killed in action; two constables died later of wounds.

At Duck Lake, heart of the Metis country, the Riel rebellion of 1885 had first been opened.

"When ordered to fire I whipped out my pistol, shouting at anyone who had been covering me and three others, and the battle had started," recounted "Gentleman Joe" McKay. "The first I fired was the first in the rebellion."

After the rebellion McKay remained in the police force. He was present at the last stand of Alvin Kippen at Yorkton, Indian, killed by police after a career of fighting which terrorized the country.

Personal many years ago, the man who fired the first shot in the rebellion made his home in Prince Albert. Descendant of the McKay clan of Scotland, he was born at Kilmory, Argyll, Scotland.

Mr. McKay, nine children, 45 grandchildren and five great grandchildren, died of a heart attack, survived by his wife, Mrs. McKay, 83, a son.

The Jewish population of Poland has been estimated at 2,820,496, the second largest number of Jews of any country in the world.

Unofficial conversations in recent days had indicated that much interest as today's meeting, partly because of the influence of the principals and the timing of the meeting after the Munich agreement and President Hoover's prolonged review of foreign affairs with several of his European ambassadors.

Both before and after the conference, Mr. Edén had emphasized that his visit had no official meaning whatsoever, but the president also had explained he was receiving Edén at the latter's request and in his capacity as a visiting member of the British parliament.

Edén's reputation as "Europe's best dressed diplomat" and world famous advocate of peace and collective security had preceded him for Washington, and he did not disappoint. Flattering feminine circles that greeted him wherever he appeared.

STOPS ALL WORK. Mr. Edén arrived at state department and White House stopped all work temporarily as employees crowded the halls to applaud the dapper statesman, who appeared flustered by his popularity.

After his visit to the White House, Edén spoke "off the record" before the National Press Club. His remarks were heard by many government leaders, including most of the cabinet officers. Edén appeared shy and restrained as he faced the 400 guests.

After a flying visit this afternoon to Lincoln Memorial and Mount Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. Edén went back to the White House for tea with Mrs. Roosevelt. They were invited to dine privately with British Embassy officials last night.

The curious piece of flesh which adorns the inside of the jaw of the alligator snapping turtle, and which is used as a lure for prey, is made all the more effective by its color, which makes it stand out from the rest of its mouth parts.

Steps Upward

Among military transfers announced at Ottawa is the elevation of Mr. Justice C. P. McTavish from High Court to the Appeal Court of the Province of Ontario.

When ordered to fire I whipped out my pistol, shouting at anyone who had been covering me and three others, and the battle had started," recounted "Gentleman Joe" McKay. "The first I fired was the first in the rebellion."

After the rebellion McKay remained in the police force. He was present at the last stand of Alvin Kippen at Yorkton, Indian, killed by police after a career of fighting which terrorized the country.

Personal many years ago, the man who fired the first shot in the rebellion made his home in Prince Albert. Descendant of the McKay clan of Scotland, he was born at Kilmory, Argyll, Scotland.

Mr. McKay, nine children, 45 grandchildren and five great grandchildren, died of a heart attack, survived by his wife, Mrs. McKay, 83, a son.

The Jewish population of Poland has been estimated at 2,820,496, the second largest number of Jews of any country in the world.

Unofficial conversations in recent days had indicated that much interest as today's meeting, partly because of the influence of the principals and the timing of the meeting after the Munich agreement and President Hoover's prolonged review of foreign affairs with several of his European ambassadors.

Both before and after the conference, Mr. Edén had emphasized that his visit had no official meaning whatsoever, but the president also had explained he was receiving Edén at the latter's request and in his capacity as a visiting member of the British parliament.

Edén's reputation as "Europe's best dressed diplomat" and world famous advocate of peace and collective security had preceded him for Washington, and he did not disappoint. Flattering feminine circles that greeted him wherever he appeared.

STOPS ALL WORK. Mr. Edén arrived at state department and White House stopped all work temporarily as employees crowded the halls to applaud the dapper statesman, who appeared flustered by his popularity.

After his visit to the White House, Edén spoke "off the record" before the National Press Club. His remarks were heard by many government leaders, including most of the cabinet officers. Edén appeared shy and restrained as he faced the 400 guests.

After a flying visit this afternoon to Lincoln Memorial and Mount Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. Edén went back to the White House for tea with Mrs. Roosevelt. They were invited to dine privately with British Embassy officials last night.

The curious piece of flesh which adorns the inside of the jaw of the alligator snapping turtle, and which is used as a lure for prey, is made all the more effective by its color, which makes it stand out from the rest of its mouth parts.

Beulah Home Board Says Thank You!

SEASON of Christmas, happiness and merriment time of the year, and the one which marks the closing of a cycle of months that make up another year, gives pause for reflection of the progress made during the past twelve months.

Board members of Beulah home, the attendants and patients in the home take this happy season as the most significant one to review their progress and to say "Thank You" to their many city friends for making the work in the home a possibility.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

Looking backward thus, the twenty-ninth year of operation, has been one of the most active of any for the home. Dividends from the home cannot be counted in terms of dollars, but in terms of comfort and courage given to souls in need of help, and the thanks of the board are extended to those who have kept the best wishes of the home nearest their hearts as well as to those who have aided their materiality.

Wishes of 1937-1938 brought to the home the largest family ever housed at one time. With additional accommodation and help, resources in the home were ever kept busy, but came through with flying colors. During the year, the home has been added to, the grounds have been repaired and replanted in lovely shrubs and trees.

Fencing of the home's grounds has been sufficient. Total number of persons cared for numbers this year 280, babies and mothers included, quite a family to care for during one year.

SPECIAL THANKS

Special thanks of the board are tendered to the city of Edmonton and credit given for the close and friendly co-operation shown to the home, to the Y.W.C.A., the Salvation Army, and the many other groups who assisted. Dr. P. M. Little, city M.P.O., deserves special credit for his aid, as do Mr. Paton, landscape gardener of the Oliver Institute for his help in planning the grounds. The many Edmonton firms who have donated materials, time and money for the benefit of the home, are at this time also made the recipients of the hearty thanks of the board.

So, with this note, board members and home officials say "Thank you again, and Merry Christmas."

Others re-elected with Mrs. Howey include Mrs. A. H. Rogers, first vice-president; Mrs. J. W. Douglas, second vice-president; Mrs. W. T. Wood, secretary; Mrs. G. B. Brock, treasurer; Mrs. T. Taylor, Mrs. A. C. Rankin and Mrs. J. W. Adams, directors.

Efforts to represent the Women's Institute on the Local Council, the United Church, and the many other groups who assisted. Dr. P. M. Little, city M.P.O., deserves special credit for his aid, as do Mr. Paton, landscape gardener of the Oliver Institute for his help in planning the grounds. The many Edmonton firms who have donated materials, time and money for the benefit of the home, are at this time also made the recipients of the hearty thanks of the board.

So, with this note, board members and home officials say "Thank you again, and Merry Christmas."

WEST JASPER WILL REPEAT SCHOOL VOTE

New Election Follows Casting Of Seven Ineligible Ballots

Following an investigation of the allegations had been made to Premier W. Abernethy, as minister of education, that in the election of October 21 last to fill a vacancy on the West Jasper school board, Charles Henderson, seven votes were cast by people residing outside the boundaries of the district, will be held on Friday, December 16.

Nominations in the first election, Mrs. Dan McQuay and A. H. Huff, have been successful and it is expected that the second election will be held on the same day.

Speaking first Mr. Huff explained that he is advocating a school board election in the district of West Jasper.

This school district has in the past, and in all probability will have for some time to come, the largest millage in this municipal district, he said.

The present school is already ill-equipped to handle the present enrollment, requiring a large outlay of money, which is about four times the amount of taxes authorized to be spent on public works and is not sufficient to meet the needs of the district.

NEED BEST BRAINS
We need the services of the best brains available in our district. Co-operation, good values, sound planning and careful, solid construction in the future, will secure our children.

Eddie Williams Gives Brilliant Exhibition in Edmonton Net; Bob Crossland's "Special" Sinks Oilers

OTOPOTOS, Alta. Dec. 14—A lucky goal by Bob Crossland moved the way for a 3-0 Edmonton victory over Turner Valley in the only Alberta Senior Hockey League game last night. Edmonton, previously tied with the Oilers, moved into third place, a point behind Drumheller and five points back of the league leaders, Lethbridge.

The contest, played on soft ice, was speedy, featuring brilliant net-minding by Bill Roche for Oilers and Eddie Williams for Eskimos. The Valley sharpshooters became erratic and ineffective against the Northerners' defensive play in the final period.

Alberta Fur Breeders' Association Holds First Pelt Show In City

Fur Farmers Hold First Annual Show West of the Lakes

Thursday and Friday, under the sponsorship of the Alberta Fur Breeders' Association, the first annual pelt show will be held west of the Great Lakes, will be held on the second floor of the new Hudson's Bay Company store at 102 street and Jasper avenue.

To be officially opened by Hon. Ernest Manning, provincial minister of trades and industries, at 2:30 p.m. Thursday, the show will remain open to the public until 6:00 p.m. on Thursday, and from 9:30 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. Friday.

Running the two-day event to a close, a banquet will be held in the Coronet Friday evening, at which A. G. Walker, president of the fur breeders' association, will preside.

NEW INDUSTRY

Mayor J. W. Fry will give an address of welcome, while Hon. D. B. Stulen, provincial minister of agriculture, will speak on "The Breeding Industry in Alberta."

G. W. Harris will speak on "Judging of Pelts" and Premier William Abernethy will present the trophies.

Speakers at the pelt show will be G. W. Harris, Fred Skene and C. W. McDonald.

Purpose of the show is to bring to public attention the Alberta fur industry, valued at nearly $1,000,000 yearly.

In 1938 the industry has increased its assets totaling approximately $10,750 to $12,500,000 according to statistics released by W. H. Wallace, provincial fur and game commissioner.

Fur farms are valued at $30,000 for lands and buildings and $100,000 for animals on a pelt basis in 1938. For the 12 months ending June 30 last, 423 fur farms were valued at $1,060,000 for lands and buildings, and animals, on a pelt basis at $1,150,000, according to the commissioner.

Today 40 per cent of the total fur production in the province is from fur farms and ranches and it is expected that this figure will rise to 50 per cent by 1940.

Before long, Alberta now ranks in fourth place in number of ranch-breeds animals, Premier Edward Ross announced.

Speaker

HON. D. B. STULEN

Minister of agriculture for the province of Alberta. He will be the first speaker at the pelt show.

During the past 12 months total of nine furs from fur farms have been sold as means of educating the breeders. The provincial government's fur farm at Okotoks, one of the most up-to-date in the west, is operated as a further means of educating breeders in raising fur quality of animals.

Total number of animals being sold for the year extending from July 1, 1937 to June 30, 1938 amounted to 2,064,114, which is an increase of about 100,000 according to the annual report of the fur branch. The average value was a little higher than the previous year, to total the total revenue derived from the sale of furs amounted to $2,880,000.

Small forms of the fur found in Canada have a family of animals known as the blue fox. The blue fox is found in the Arctic region of Canada and of the north of the Arctic region and the North Pole. It is the most valuable fur in the world and is the most valuable fur in the world.

So far the white fox has not appeared in the province of Alberta. It is the most valuable fur in the world and is the most valuable fur in the world.

Albino Mink
Two albino mink have been found in the province of Alberta. They are the most valuable fur in the world and is the most valuable fur in the world.

Not Exclusive
The breeding of furs originated in Canada, but other countries, notably the Scandinavian countries, have taken it up in a big way. It is reported that there are now 15,000 fur farms in the Scandinavian countries and of these 14,000 are in Sweden. Norwegian furs are said to be the best.

TOOK FUR TRADE A LONG TIME TO SEE THE OBVIOUS

FUR BREEDERS TO IMPROVE PELT GRADES

Extensive Program For Standardization of Products Planned

Canadian fur breeders with an eye to the future are bending their efforts toward a program of increasing the quality of Canadian pelts, and to establish grading of pelts so that Canadian No. 1 will have a world-wide reputation as that of Canadian No. 1.

In a brief submitted to a committee of fur breeders held in Vancouver recently, S. K. Hines, J. K. Hines, and C. D. Long of the Western Canada Fur Breeders' Association, the first of a national fur-breeding conference, was held in Vancouver recently.

Attention of breeders now on "Blue Fox"

SUPERIORITY OF RANCH PRODUCT NOW ADMITTED

When fur farming was in its infancy, ranch pelts were not considered the equal of the wild-caught pelts of quality. It was generally doubted whether animals bred in captivity would ever equal the fine qualities of those born in the wild.

In recent years these doubts have been dispelled. Today, the fur trade admits the superiority of the ranch product. Silver foxes reached the status of a staple industry about 20 years ago. The arrival of mink ranch pelts at the same stage of recognition is more recent but equally positive.

From a group of 100 ranch pelts the manufacturer is able to select 30 or 40 skins for a garment, most all these skins are uniform in color and texture, having been pelled exactly when prime. In a wild-caught group of 100 skins, the manufacturer is fortunate if he can select 20 fully prime skins, as the pelts were trapped anywhere from early fall to late spring and in different parts of the country.

WORK CREATED, MARKETS MADE BY FUR FARMS

Breeds providing employment for farming has created a new market for thousands of tons of wool, fish, cereals and other farm products. Many manufacturers of garments, hardware, fine and other lines of business have been stimulated materially by the development of this new industry.

No country is a natural fur-raising country. Canada is a natural fur-raising country. Canada is a natural fur-raising country.

National Assistance For West Wheat Growers Looms Large at Parley

By CARL HEINKE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG, Dec. 14.—National assistance for western wheat growers in a time of world wheat crisis loomed large in discussions at the parley, markets conference Tuesday as attention centred on what was happening to wheat in the other major wheat exporting and importing countries.

The fact which constituted one of Canada's total exports—and sometimes as much as one-third—was enough in itself to entitle the wheat growing industry to consideration in domestic Parley, president of the Manitoba Wheat Producers' Association.

"There is no organization or individual in Western Canada who does not conscientiously think there must be adequate support for the western farmer as long as present national and international conditions continue," asserted L. W. Brockington, Winnipeg, secretary for the Northwest Grain Dealers' Association.

WILL HELP HELP

"It is unbelievable that any government would not continue to give the same support as it has given this year."

Mr. Brockington agreed the West would certainly need help next year, with one of the biggest wheat crops ever in the world facing the industry. There was no easy prospect of improvement.

For many years western farmers had "subsidized" export by selling wheat at less than cost, as had been the case several years ago, when Mr. Brockington said.

When the reverse was the case, the farmers were getting back a little of what they had given.

The conference heard, in a series of papers, of the damage to the old grain wheat growers in other countries of domestic and foreign markets.

As an example, a speaker in Australia said Australia's direct subsidies and farmers in the United States.

GERMAN PRICES

It heard of the high prices wheat producers in Germany.

France were getting under government programs wheat returned to the market.

In Germany, wheat prices were running 50 cents a bushel, while in France, wheat was $1.50 a bushel.

Mr. Brockington said that wheat in the United States was sold at 50 cents a bushel, while in France, wheat was $1.50 a bushel.

CLOTHES ARE IDEAL GIFTS AT YULETIDE

Hart Brothers Have a Large Selection of Haberdashery

Edmonton men are clothes conscious and when they want the latest in fashion they visit the Hart Brothers, where the newest and most up-to-date minute to haberdashery is shown.

Right now at Hart Brothers the most important part of a man's wardrobe, his shirt, is being shown in the smallest collection of Arrow shirts, in which men will find the latest in style, and wearing right down to the last stitch. They are smart and useful, and are blessed with the new collar, a short, ever opened, unfurled-collared, to guarantee them and the stylish women will be wearing one of the gold-plated, brooches displayed at Toller's. These in natural colors, tones of grey and white pearl take their place in the front row of the fashion show.

OVERCOAT

Another important item in the man's wardrobe is the overcoat, and the biggest news in this department this season is the "down in front" idea, which is a lower opening for a better display of the tie and shirt. The drape style is the one most preferred and the big favorite in model is the rayon. Rayon is slip into and look at it. It is a grand coat for the material. Lowering without sacrifice of style, the Hart Brothers are showing at all the other favored styles in distinctive flares, Tweeds, and Elysians. Tearing in the Hart coat is so distinctive that while it may not be actually visible to the eye, it is in the clothes and your friend's complaint on the clothes from Hart Brothers that you wear will prove that point.

They have the new suit styles in the feature shade of the season, emerald and blue, which is green in daylight and blue at night. It is the style sensation of the year. Other gift suggestions at Hart.

ELECTRIC RANGE SAFE AND CLEAN HOUSEWIVES SAY

Why have the Canadian people bought electric ranges in the past and why are they continuing to buy them in ever-increasing numbers? That question was asked by an official at the City of Edmonton electric light department, and he answered his own question with the statement that the convenience of the North American continent buys electric ranges for safety, healthfulness, financial investment and modernity.

The electric range is a safe and clean housewife's choice.

Dittrich Observes Increased Support For Formal Attire

SOCIETY this winter is going formal, even in Edmonton where styles in men's clothing have always been just a little on the conservative side, but at Christmas in every man's wardrobe there must be tails, a white vest, and a white tie. At Dittrich Men's Shop, where men's clothing and accessories are the last word in perfection, the Royal full dress suit of Wilshire, mothproof cloth, with corded lapels, and usual stripe down the trouser leg, is flattering and correctly smart for the well-dressed man.

ENGLISH FAIRIE

Most popular color in male attire this winter is blue-green, which shows blue in some lights and green in others. Green is very strong again, and it is the opinion of Ernie Dittrich, owner of this firm, that green will be strong again this spring, so that a suit purchased during the holiday season will be right in the parade at Easter.

Clothes

ERNEST DITTRICH

Ernest Dittrich, owner of Dittrich Men's Shop, 1017-73 101st St., Edmonton, Alberta, is shown in the photograph. He is a well-known figure in the Edmonton fashion world.

Smartest Fashions Are Shown in City By Walkrite Shop

IN grandmother's day, the heavy drapes used to keep the sun from fading the best carpet in the parlor was made from that lovely, long-lasting shagpile, but today's fashion experts, knowing the love of the feminine mind for soft, flattering materials, have taken this fabric and modelled it in clever styles of the popular housecoat.

The Walkrite style shop, always right up-to-date in the latest detail of fashion, have brought in a new shipment of Christmas shoppers, for the buyers of that firm realize that nothing in women's dress is so thoroughly durable, beautiful and comfortable as the Walkrite housecoat.

Mixtures and Novelty Colors are the new trend in housecoats. The Walkrite shop has a large stock of these new styles, and they are sure to find a buyer for every one. The prices are very reasonable, and the quality is guaranteed.
